The objective of this Policy is to ensure that Employees comply with the prohibition on insider trading, both in substance and appearance. All Employees are required to conduct their personal investment activity in a manner that is lawful and avoids conflicts of interest between their individual personal interests and those of the Group and its clients.

3. Policy statement

3.1 All trading in Securities by Employees of the Group must be in accordance with this Policy.

3.2 Consistent with the law, all Employees are prohibited in all circumstances from insider trading (as defined below) in respect of ClearView Securities or the Securities of any other listed company on the basis of information obtained as a result of that Employee's position at ClearView.

What is insider trading?

3.3 Insider trading refers to:

- (a) Dealing in Securities while in possession of inside information;
- (b) Procuring a third party to deal in Securities while in possession of inside information; or
- (c) Passing on inside information to another person if it is known, or ought reasonably be known, that the person would or would be likely to commit the conduct described in these paragraphs (a) – (c).

What is inside information?

3.4 Inside information is information that is:

- (a) Not generally available; and
- (b) If it were generally available, a reasonable person would expect it to have a material effect on the price or value of the relevant Securities.

3.5 Information is generally available if:

- (a) It consists of readily observable matter; or
- (b) It has been made known in a manner likely to bring the information to the attention of people who commonly invest in Securities of a kind whose price might be affected by the information, and, since it was made known, a reasonable period for it to be disseminated among such persons has elapsed; or
- (c) It is derived from information which has been made public; or
- (d) It consists of observations, deductions, conclusions or inferences made or drawn from other generally available information.

3.6 Information is likely to have a material effect on the price or value of the relevant Securities if the information would, or would be likely to, influence persons who commonly acquire Securities in deciding whether or not to acquire or dispose of Securities.

- 3.7 Inside information is not limited to the ClearView Group. It could be information about a ClearView customer, supplier, or entity with which ClearView is negotiating a significant transaction or discussing future strategic opportunities.

For the purposes of this Policy, exceptional circumstances include severe financial hardship, a Court order or a court enforceable undertaking (for example, in a bona fide family settlement), or some other overriding legal or regulatory requirement to transfer, or accept a transfer of, Securities. Authorisation to purchase will rarely be given.

An exception is granted at the discretion of the MD and any such exception may be reported to the ClearView Wealth Limited Board of Directors ("Board").

4.3 Trading Windows – General Employees

General Employees are permitted to trade in ClearView Securities throughout the year with the exception of two periods in which Employees are not permitted to trade in ClearView Securities. In this Policy, these periods are referred to as "Closed Periods".

A person in possession of inside information of ClearView Securities is prohibited from trading in them under insider trading laws and this applies even where the trading falls within one of the exceptions outlined above.

4.4 Closed Periods

Closed Periods are fixed periods during the year in the lead up to half and full year financial reporting.

The bi-annual Closed Periods commence two weeks prior to the end of each full financial year (being 30 June) and each half financial year (being 31 December). The Closed Periods will generally commence from 15 June and 15 December until the next ASX trading day following the announcement of half/full year results to the market.

The Company Secretary will confirm the commencement and end of the Closed Periods via an email to all General Employees. The Board of ClearView Wealth Limited reserves the right to vary the timing of the Closed Periods by notifying General Employees of changes to this Policy at any time.

4.5 Additional Closed Periods

Additional Closed Periods may be imposed by ClearView from time to time when it is considering matters which may include inside information and/or matters which are subject to ASX Listing Rule 3.1A. These Additional Closed Periods may apply to all Employees regardless of whether or not they are in possession of inside information. These Additional Closed Periods will be set by the Board or by the CDC. The Company Secretary will manage the commencement and end date of these Additional Closed Periods and any Employee communications as required.

4.6 Trading Windows – Privy Employees and KMP

Privy Employees and KMP are permitted to trade in ClearView Securities only in periods which are considered “open periods” (Open Periods). All other periods outside of the Open Periods are considered prohibited and Privy Employees and KMP are prohibited from trading.

4.7 Open Periods

24 hours after the release of the full year financial results.	31 October.
24 hours after the release of the Annual General Meeting results.	2 weeks later.

The Company Secretary will confirm the commencement and end of the Open Periods via an email to all Privy Employees, KMP. The Board of ClearView Wealth Limited reserves the right to vary the timing of the Open Periods by notifying employees of changes to this Policy at any time. The Open Periods specified above are subject to an Additional Closed Periods determined by the Board or the CDC.

A person in possession of inside information of ClearView Securities is prohibited from trading in them under insider trading laws and this applies even where the trading falls within one of the exceptions outlined above.

4.8 Obtaining Authorisation to Trade – Notice Procedure

All Employees and directors must give prior written notification of their intention to trade, in accordance with the table set out below:

Employee / Director	Designated Approving Officer
Chairman	MD and Company Secretary
All other non-executive directors (NED) (including NEDs of subsidiary boards) and the Managing Director (MD)	Chairman
All other KMP (excluding the Managing Director)	MD and CFO
All other Privy Employees (including executive directors of subsidiaries)	MD and CFO
All other employees, spouses, de facto partners and trustees	Company Secretary

The notification must be in the form of the pro forma Authorisation Form attached to this Policy as Appendix A.

Where the MD is unavailable, the CFO will be the designated approving officer. Where the MD and CFO are both unavailable, the Company Secretary will be the designated approving officer.

Any authorisation under this Policy is not an endorsement of the proposed trade and the Employee doing the trading is individually responsible for their investment decisions and their compliance with insider trading laws.

4.9 Authorisation

The designated approving officer(s), in accordance with the table set out above, is required to notify the Employee of the authorisation to trade as soon as possible after receiving notification of the intention to trade. Authorisation should be in the form of a signed Authorisation Form but can also be given in writing, via email, text message or voicemail. Where an authorisation to trade is provided, it is valid for a period of thirty (30) days.

If authorisation is given and an Employee subsequently comes into possession of inside information, they are prohibited from trading from the time they possess the inside information.

Where authorisation has not been given, the designated approving officer is under no obligation to reveal to the employee his/her reasons for making that decision. Where authorisation to trade has been refused, the employee seeking the authorisation must keep that information confidential and not disclose it to anyone.

4.10 Trading of Restricted Securities

The Board or CDC may decide that trading in a particular security should not occur (Restricted Securities).

It is envisaged that Restricted Securities may be nominated Securities inside or outside the S&P ASX 300 index. Restricted Securities may include derivatives.

All Restricted Securities will be included and maintained on the Restricted Securities list by the Company Secretary.

A complete list of all designated Restricted Securities will be circulated amongst relevant employees, and when any changes are made an up-to-date list will be circulated to relevant employees via email by the MD or Company Secretary.

Employees may only trade in Restricted Securities if all of the following requirements are met:

- (a) The Employee does not have inside information;
- (b) The Employee has followed the notice and authorisation procedure as set out in Part D, of this Policy; and
- (c) The Employee is not, in effect, front running the intended trades of the Group. For the purposes of this Policy, “front running” is the disposal or acquisition of a Security immediately prior to the trade of that Security by the Group.

4.11 Trading of Other Securities

Employees may only trade in Other Securities if the Employee does not have inside information. Other Securities include interests in any managed investment schemes operated by ClearView.

4.12 Short selling

Short selling of ClearView Securities is prohibited under this Policy.

4.13 Short-term trading

All ClearView Securities must be held for a period of at least 90 calendar days subject to any of the exceptions detailed in Part D above.

4.14 No derivatives over unvested ClearView Securities

ClearView Securities may be granted to Employees as part of their remuneration under the ESP. These grants are subject to the satisfaction of various time and or performance hurdles to ensure alignment of rewards with ClearView objectives and performance.

The use of derivatives over ClearView ESP Securities could distort the proper functioning of these hurdles. Accordingly, derivatives over ClearView ESP Securities are not permitted to be held in relation to any ClearView Securities that are unvested, subject of a holding lock.

4.15 Hedging transactions

Under this Policy, all ESP participant employees are prohibited from entering into any transaction to hedge their exposure to ClearView ESP Securities that either have not vested or have vested but remain subject to a holding lock.

4.16 Margin lending and other secured financing arrangements

Where an Employee who holds ClearView Securities, has entered into margin lending or other secured financing arrangements and they become aware of a default, they must immediately disclose this to the Chief Financial Officer.

5. Breaches

Insider trading is a criminal offence, potentially attracting fines and imprisonment. Civil penalties and compensation may also be ordered against a person found to have engaged in insider trading.

Breaches of this Policy will also be regarded as serious misconduct, which may lead to disciplinary action against the relevant employee, up to and including termination of employment. Any employee who becomes aware of a violation of this Policy must immediately report the violation to the Company Secretary.

It should also be noted that in some circumstances ClearView may be obliged to notify the relevant regulatory authorities of any actions which constitute a breach of this Policy.

6. Securities trading awareness and training

KMP and, where relevant, their direct reports, will undergo training provided or arranged by the Company Secretary. Training can be in the form of online training, face-to-face training/information sessions or email communication.

7. Annual KMP compliance attestations

Annually, KMP and, where relevant, their direct reports, are required to attest to their understanding of insider trading provisions and compliance with this Policy.

8. Record keeping and disclosure

- 8.1 All Employees are obliged to maintain records of their trading in ClearView Securities and Restricted Securities. The Company Secretarial team may require the production of Securities trading records.
- 8.2 All Directors of ClearView Wealth Limited must immediately notify the Company Secretary of any trading of ClearView Securities. The Company Secretary is responsible for lodging with the ASX all Appendix 3X, 3Y and 3Z forms in respect of trading in ClearView Securities.
- 8.3 Shareholders who have relatively significant holdings of ClearView Securities are obliged to give notice to ClearView and to the ASX if they begin to have a "substantial holding" (i.e. 5%) in ClearView Securities and if there is a movement of at least 1% in their holding, within two business days of becoming aware of the information.

8.4 An up-to-date copy of this Policy is accessible from the corporate governance area of the ClearView website: www.clearview.com.au.

8.5 Disclosure of material changes to ASX

Listing Rule 12.10 requires an entity which makes a material change to its trading policy to submit a copy of the amended trading policy to the ASX within five business days of the change taking effect. The ASX considers the following amendments to constitute a material change:

8.5.1 Changes to the fixed closed periods

8.5.2 Changes with respect to the trading that is excluded from the operation of the trading policy; and

8.5.3 Changes with respect to the exceptional circumstances in which KMP may be permitted to trade during a prohibited period.

Appendix B – Frequently Asked Questions and Worked Examples

The following provides answers to frequently asked questions regarding this Policy as well as worked examples of when employees need to seek authorisation to trade in ClearView Securities.

Q1 – When can I trade in ClearView Securities?

If you are an Employee, but not a KMP, nor have access to financial information, you can generally trade between:

- After the release of the half year financial results until 15 June; and
- After the release of the full year financial results until 15 December.

If you are a Privy Employee (i.e., you are a KMP or have access to financial information), you can generally trade :

- After the release of the half year financial results until 30 April;
- After the release of the full year financial results until 31 October; and
- In the 2 week period after the release of the AGM results.

If you are in doubt, please check with the Company Secretary.

If you have confidential, sensitive or material information that, if it were publicly known, could influence the share price of ClearView, you should not trade in the open periods (stated above) if that information has not already been announced by ClearView on the ASX platform.

Q2 – Do I need to obtain approval to trade even during the open periods (described above)?

Yes, you will need to complete a Securities Trading Authorisation Form and provide this to the Company Secretariat team to arrange approval. Note that you cannot trade until you have received notification that your request has been approved, even during an open period.

Q3 – My family would like to trade in ClearView Securities. Do they need to obtain approval to do this?

If the family member is your spouse, defacto partner or child under 18 years of age then approval is required.

You do not need to seek approval for family members that include siblings, parents, cousins, grandparents,

Q4 – Who do I contact if I have questions about this Policy?

If you have any queries, you can contact your Manager in the first instance, or alternatively contact the Company Secretary by email: companysecretariat@clearview.com.au.

Q5 – I only want to purchase a small amount of shares so why should I have to obtain approval?

This Policy is in place to ensure that ClearView's employees do not engage in insider trading. Insider trading is a serious criminal offense and can still occur if you trade small or large quantities of securities.

Q6 – Why are there different trading windows for different people in the Company?

Depending on the nature of your role, you may become aware of, or have access to, information about ClearView that can be sensitive, confidential and that, if it were publicly known, could influence the share price of ClearView. ClearView's Board does not want to discourage employees from participating in the Company's share price successes.

Appendix B – Frequently Asked Questions and Worked Examples

Securities Trading Examples

1 – Bob is a direct report to the Chief Financial Officer and was assisting in collating information for the end of financial year financial report. Bob noticed that the draft results showed a significant profit and over dinner that evening, mentioned this to his wife as he was excited about working for a company that was doing so well. The next day, on 10 June, Bob's wife purchased shares in ClearView and only told Bob afterward.

Result – Breach of Policy.

Although Bob believed that his discussion with his wife was harmless, this is an example of insider trading as Bob's wife purchased shares without the prior approval of ClearView and did so based on information that had not yet been released to the ASX. The fact that she purchased shares in an open period is still a breach of the Policy because Bob had not obtained prior approval for her to do so.

2 – Lisa is a new employee who was asked to assist her manager to review financial documents to ensure that punctuation, spelling and formatting was correct. As a new employee, Lisa wanted to purchase shares because she believed that the Company would grow. Lisa asked her manager if she could purchase the shares on 1 July. Her manager said yes, so Lisa purchased the shares.

Result – Breach of Policy.

Although Lisa asked her manager if she could purchase shares, Lisa did not obtain approval from the Company Secretary. If Lisa had completed the appropriate Securities Trading Authorisation Form and provided it to the Company Secretary, Lisa would have been advised that the trading window was closed, and no shares could be traded on 1 July.

3 – Sally is an accountant and completed a Securities Trading Authorisation Form and provided it to the Company Secretary to obtain approval on the day of the half year results announcement. She had not heard back from the Company Secretary so assumed that the request was approved and purchased shares.

Result – Breach of Policy.

Even though the trading window was open, formal approval confirmation was required from the Company Secretary before Sally purchased the shares. Sally should have contacted the Company Secretary to ensure a formal response was obtained.

4 – Beatrice is an accountant for ClearView and completed a Securities Trading Authorisation Form and provided it to the Company Secretary to obtain approval on 20 February. Beatrice was told by the Company Secretary that her request was approved, subject to ClearView releasing its half year financial results and was required to wait 1 business day after release to be able to trade. Beatrice purchased ClearView shares on 2 March.

Result – Compliant with Policy.

Although Beatrice had requested approval to trade during a closed period, formal approval confirmation was obtained from the Company Secretary with conditions that Beatrice must adhere to. Beatrice waited until 24 hours after the financial results were released to the ASX platform. Beatrice purchased her shares on 2 March and was therefore compliant with this Policy.
